But whether it's a vlog, a TikTok skit you watch or a thread on X [Twitter] you read, you all understand one thing: stories matter.

And in both journalism and education, timing is everything.

Their lives remind us that the most powerful headlines are not written in bold type, but in bold choices.

With grit to eliminate inefficiencies.
With grace to champion the welfare of our stakeholders.

You are the most connected generation in history.

So when we say Move Up, Step Up, Level Up, for DepEd, it is an invitation.

These stories remind us: education moves forward because ordinary Filipinos choose to do extraordinary things.

The challenge is simple but urgent:
let’s make sure the story we write is not just newsworthy, but nation-worthy.
